

Robin Helman is an Art Director with over 15 years of experience. She began as an assistant to Andy Warhol, and has since developed a career in publication design, brand identity and web design. From New York to Hong Kong to London, Robin has worked with a wide range of clients with an equally wide range of needs, giving her the ability to adapt her creative process to different ends and to effectively manage concurrent projects.

Robin is currently co-director of ONE BOOK PRESS, a publishing company that offers custom produced image-driven books. For more information, please visit www.1bookpress.com
